Treading the boards at the new Mac

Volunteers and staff of the Mac, a.k.a. the McKinney Avenue Contemporary, explored their new location Wednesday. The arts venue, which housed galleries and the Kitchen Dog Theater in Uptown before closing June 27, will reopen in larger digs on South Ervay Street next year.

Rachel Rogerson, incoming director, leads Mac workers down the stairs. The Mac is joining other galleries that are making the move to the trendy Cedars neighborhood.
